

Guitar Center partners with Epiphone to offer exclusive Les Paul Widow guitars in bold burst finishes – igniting one of the most successful new product launches to date

A faithful reissue of the original Gibson Widow guitars, the Epiphone Les Paul Custom Widow guitars have set a new benchmark as one of the most successful product launches in Guitar Center's history

Westlake Village, CA (May 1, 2025) — Guitar Center, the world's largest musical instrument retailer, has partnered with Epiphone to offer the Epiphone Les Paul Custom Widow guitars, a faithful reissue of the original Gibson Widow models. Available in four bold new burst finishes exclusively at Guitar Center – Indigo, Orange, Purple and Red — this new Widow series captures the legendary spirit, craftsmanship, and tonal performance of the originals while offering musicians an accessible price point. The result has set a new benchmark as one of the most successful product launches in Guitar Center's history.

Originally introduced as a limited-edition variation of the iconic Les Paul Custom, the original Gibson Widow guitars became highly sought after for their bold aesthetics, luxurious appointments, and resonant tone. They earned a dedicated following among players who appreciated their combination of aggressive style and vintage character. The new Epiphone Les Paul Custom Widow models honor that legacy, reimagining the design for today's musicians while retaining the core elements that made the originals so special.

"Core and foundational to Guitar Center's new strategy is to provide our customers with the best and most unique products on the planet," said Gabe Dalporto, CEO of Guitar Center. "We're proud to partner with Epiphone to create these Widow guitars in four striking colors, which are truly exceptional instruments that can only be found at Guitar Center. We look forward to delivering many more Guitar Center exclusive product innovations soon."

Each Les Paul Custom Widow features a solid mahogany body for rich, resonant tone, topped with beautifully figured flame maple that enhances the dramatic burst finishes under a high-gloss coat. The color-matched seven-ply binding adds a refined touch, creating a cohesive, elegant look from every angle. The 24.75" scale mahogany neck, shaped in a modern medium C profile, offers effortless playability, paired with a smooth ebony fingerboard fitted with 22 frets and pearloid block inlays.

Tone is driven by a pair of Epiphone ProBucker Custom humbuckers, delivering warm, vintage-inspired sounds with excellent dynamic response. Players can rely on the LockTone Tune-O-Matic bridge and Stop Bar tailpiece for superior tuning stability and intonation, while the Graph Tech nut and Grover Rotomatic tuners provide added precision and reliability. Chrome hardware completes the instrument's premium feel, and each Widow includes a high-quality gig bag for protection and portability.

The Epiphone Les Paul Custom Widow offers musicians a stunning combination of iconic design, powerful sound, and eye-catching aesthetics—ready for any stage or studio.

The Epiphone Les Paul Custom Widow is available now and priced at $799.00 at all Guitar Center locations and online at www.guitarcenter.com, but supply is limited.
