"I'm stoked to be joining forces with two top players to give aspiring talent a larger platform to showcase their craft. Both Guitar Center and RedOne are staples in the modern music space and it's incredible to see them giving back to the independent artist community. Having been in the music industry from a young age I am excited to share what I can to help better the budding careers of young musicians." - Cody Simpson

How the Program Works:

Starting September 1 through November 2, undiscovered singer-songwriters 16 years and older from all over the country can submit up to five videos of their original songs to guitarcenter.com/songwriter. The top 100 ranked artists will be evaluated by a panel of judges and RedOne. The judges will evaluate the artists' skills, style, vocal ability, presence, creativity, originality and more. Five finalists will be chosen and announced in mid-December. These five finalists will all receive gear from the top brands and will be flown out to Los Angeles, CA, to perform live at the Grand Finals in 2017. RedOne will hand-select the winner at the grand finals event. For more information on rules and regulations, please visit guitarcenter.com/songwriter.

"Every year, we look forward to giving the most talented singer-songwriters out there a platform to showcase their music," said Jake Cheung, manager of music marketing and artist relations for Guitar Center. "We've had artists from all over the country push their creativity and fearlessly lay their whole hearts on the line after years of working on their craft. These artists deserve to be heard and celebrated. All of us at Guitar Center are thrilled to be able to support undiscovered artists while partnering with artists as respected and renowned as RedOne and Cody Simpson."
